

Privacy policy for Ikigai

Introduction

I'm glad you asked! Here's the privacy policy for Ikigai.

Who we are

Ikigai is a company based in New Delhi that makes products for people. We care about your privacy, and we want to make sure you know how we use the data collected on our website.

If you have any questions or comments about this Privacy Policy, please contact us at [sambhavsaxena02@gmail.com].

What personal data we collect and why we collect it

We DO NOT collect any personal data and try to provide you with the best experience using AI algorithms for web scrapping. We do not collect your personal data .

We DO NOT use third-party services that may require us to collect and store certain additional information about you, such as:

- Information you provide when registering or making a purchase on our website (e.g., name, address and email address);
- Information from your browser (e.g., IP address) used for security purposes;
- Information about how people found this site (e.g., search engine).

Cookies

Cookies are small bits of information that we transfer to your computer or mobile device when you visit our website. They help us to improve the site by storing your preferences and tracking which pages you have visited, as well as providing analysis on how people use the site.

Cookies can be set by us or by other organizations (for example, advertisers). We may use cookies for two purposes:

- To identify your device so that we can tailor the content of our website to suit your interests;
- To monitor traffic patterns on the site so that we can assess demand for particular areas within it;

Embedded content from other websites

The content you view on this website is not created by us. We do not host any of the content and we do not provide it to you.

If you are a user of our service, we may ask for personal information about you in order for us to provide our services (such as creating an account). If we collect your personal information from third parties, such as social media sites or websites like Facebook or Twitter, then we will treat that personal information in accordance with their privacy policies.

I have a privacy policy for you as well!

You have a privacy policy.

You have a privacy policy because you respect your users, and care about their data. You want to be transparent about how you collect information from them, and give them the ability to opt out of any data collection if they choose so. And finally, you want to be fair when it comes to sharing user data with third parties—for example, by selling advertisements based on what we learn from our users' profiles (but not the names themselves).

Conclusion

I hope this post has been helpful for you and led to a better understanding of how we use your personal data. If you have any questions or comments, please feel free to reach out to me at [sambhavsaxena02@gmail.com].